STUFF AND NONSENSE

After a long year of staying at home, not seeing our friends in person, and staring mindlessly at screens day after day, we, like Alice, are struggling to find the fun in life. Everyday seems exactly the same and extremely monotone. Alice

Chad and I went down the White Rabbit into Wonderland and finds a world that is full of color, life, and adventure without ever actually leaving the park with her family. We looked to the vibrant and whimsical works from the artist Lisa Frank to inspire us and help us create our Wonderland. Hopefully we can all find our own rabbits, even if they are as simple as a Lisa Frank folder, to lead to our own adventures powered by our own imagination.

DOWN THE RABBIT HOLE

Welcome to Alice in Wonderland! Live theatre on stage is a wonderful gift!! It was so unpleasant and heart-breaking when the pandemic ripped it away from us. We are so glad to be back with you presenting this story in person. Alice in Wonderland is about a young girl who visits a land where nonsense reigns and rules and paradigms are thrown out the window. The story seems to be a perfect metaphor for the last year of our lives. Alice enters a land that does not make sense, where protocols and expectations are twisted on their heads. Things are upside down, right side up, and every which way. At first, Alice fights against the creatures of Wonderland and tries to grasp how this world works. She asks questions and tries to rationalize the world in front of her, but it is not until she gives in and creates her own meaning that she can escape the madness surrounding her. Sound familiar? This year has been a year of reflection and retrospection for us at Lexington Children's Theatre. Our long-time Producing and Artistic Directors, Larry and Vivian Snipes, have retired and we will miss them. Their incredible dedication and hard work built LCT into the wonderful organization it is today. And now, it is time for our current staff, board, and community to vision what LCT can become moving forward. We hope you join us in discovering how we continue to bring imaginative, quality arts experience to the families of Kentucky. Thank you for your support of Lexington Children's Theatre. At LCT, we believe in family and are glad you are a part of ours. #LCTFamily.

Larry and Vivian Snipes Legacy Fund

Thank you to the donors who have honored the legacy of Larry and Vivian Snipes by donating to the Larry and Vivian Snipes Legacy Fund! These contributions will help us write LCT's next chapter by creating a fund that will sustain the theatre through the next several years, honor the legacy of Larry and Vivian, and underwrite the big ideas our new leadership will bring.
