One morning in New York City, Stuart Little woke up feeling very _____ (adjective). He stretched his _____ (adjective) arms, grabbed his _____ (piece of clothing), and hopped into his model car. "Today," he declared, "I'm going to explore _____ (place in NYC)!" On his way, he zipped past _____ (number) _____ (plural animals) that were _____ (verb ending in -ing) loudly in the street. "That was close!" Stuart shouted, swerving around a _____ (noun). Suddenly, Stuart spotted his friend Dr. Carey, who was carrying a _____ (noun). "You'll need this if you want to face the _____ (plural noun)," said Dr. Carey. Stuart nodded and drove faster, but before long, Leroy appeared. Leroy was wearing a _____ (piece of clothing) and holding a _____ (silly object). He sneered, "You'll never reach _____ (famous NYC landmark) before me!" Stuart's whiskers twitched as he thought of a plan. The race was on! Cars honked, _____ (plural noun) flew past, and Stuart had to dodge a _____ (vehicle) that almost ran him off the road. Leroy laughed and shouted, "Too slow, mouse!" Just then, Margalo swooped down from the sky holding a _____ (food). "Don't give up, Stuart! We can _____ (verb), together and beat Leroy!" Stuart zoomed faster, but Leroy took a shortcut through a _____ (type of building) and nearly blocked the path. Snowbell appeared looking _____ (adjective), and offered to help by _____ (verb ending in -ing) right in Leroy's way. In the nick of time, Stuart and his friends raced past Leroy and reached _____ (famous NYC landmark) first! It was the most _____ (adjective) adventure of all!
